

---

THE DARLALORIAN

CHAPTER 2: THE PUPPY CHILD

The Darlalian arrives on the planet Katpoopee. It is essentially a giant litter box and the reek of feline refuse causes him to gag a bit as he steps from the Lazer Crest.

As per his agreement with interplanetary weed dealer Spliff Ganja, The Darlalian will make contact with the nefarious bounty droid TVC-15. His instructions are to retrieve a prisoner held by the droid and return it to planet Mondo Chronic.

However, as The Darlalian steps into the hideout, he sees the prisoner is actually a baby Darla Dog. All Darlalians are sworn to protect and pamper these canine creatures and he is enraged to see one in captivity. He must now destroy the TVC-15 for its heretical act.

The Darlalian engages the TVC-15 using a Stereophonic Wrist Attack Gun. His SWAG blasts it to infinity. Instead of helping in the battle, The Puppy Child uses its telekinetic powers to steal peanut butter from the pantry.

Having secured The Puppy Child, he knows he must now become its protector. As a Darlalian, there is no greater pleasure than seeing a happy Darla Dog wag its stubby tail, hence their sacred creed: This is the wag.

